

Home

AGES, LP provides executive search and professional recruiting services throughout the United States. We help organizations build world class teams. We specialize in the technical and professional service areas of Chemical, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Environmental, Health and Safety Professionals, Research and Development as well as Technical Sales, Logistics/Purchasing, Market Analyst and some Finance.

Our industries of specialization include chemical, petrochemical, refining, industrial gas and some manufacturing. We understand the sensitive nature of looking for a job while you are still employed. Our confidential search process gets you and your credentials in front of potential employers while protecting your exposure and the risk to your current job. Our comprehensive permanent recruiting services, combined with our intense, time-proven search process deliver unparalleled results. We work with companies of all sizes and customize our recruiting services to meet your needs. Our team has an unprecedented commitment to quality and confidentiality and we strive to provide our clients and our candidates with the industry's highest level of service.

We take a consultative approach to recruiting. Our in-depth understanding of specific industry segments enables us to provide recommendations about position descriptions or specifications that will improve the search criteria. We have a large network of resources to help identify candidates who have the experience, skills and knowledge required for a given situation.

Invest in your team or your personal career today with Austin Group Executive Search, LP